

Academic Integrity

The Klingler College of Arts and Sciences adheres to the University Academic Integrity Policy (<https://bulletin.marquette.edu/policies/academic-integrity/>). We believe in prevention through education; accordingly, the faculty of the college takes measures to educate students about the foundational principles of academic integrity.

In instances where academic dishonesty is suspected, instructors are responsible for initiating investigations into the alleged violation and students are responsible for cooperating fully with the investigatory process. Students and faculty should refer to the University Academic Integrity Policy (<https://bulletin.marquette.edu/policies/academic-integrity/>) in this bulletin for specific details.

If the college comes to know that a student has committed a substantiated act of academic dishonesty in a course offered by the college, and if that student withdraws from that course, the college assigns the student a grade of ADW for that course.
