J. William and Mary Diederich College of Communication

From the Dean

Diederich College of Communication website (http://diederich.marquette.edu/)

Welcome!

For more than a century, the Diederich College of Communication has provided students with a well-rounded liberal arts background that reinforces valuable skills in writing, public speaking and critical thinking. With further emphasis on the ethical and moral questions facing communication professionals, students receive the foundation they need to become successful, ethically minded leaders in their places of employ and in their communities.

Our course offerings cross a wide range of disciplines that include strategic communication, digital media and performing arts, communication studies, journalism and media studies. Regardless of which fields they choose to study, all students engage with award-winning faculty, many of whom are accomplished scholars or professional artists.

We provide experiential learning opportunities that keep pace with the expanding multimedia landscape, and most students choose to participate in programs that further their success. We offer in-house media outlets where students learn how to use state-of-the-art equipment, an exciting mentor program within our alumni network and internships at agencies, corporations and non-profit organizations. Through these opportunities, students learn to apply their classroom experience in a professional context and receive guidance from industry professionals.

Our academic programs are rooted in Jesuit values, and many students choose to further this mission by completing internships at local non-profit organizations, dedicated to the wellness and betterment of our community.

I am proud to lead our college and encourage our faculty and staff to help further our mission and create a bright future for our students. I invite you to visit our website (http://diederich.marquette.edu/) and discover how a degree from the Diederich College of Communication prepares students to become responsible citizens and successful industry professionals.

Sincerely,

Sarah B. Feldner, Ph.D.
Dean, J. William and Mary Diederich College of Communication

College Mission Statement

The Diederich College of Communication advances knowledge and prepares students for intellectual, artistic, professional and ethical leadership in a complex technological and multi-cultural world. The College uses a core of common knowledge, values and communication skills to improve understanding of communication as a cultural and social process and to develop the skills necessary for success in constantly changing information environments. Specifically, we are committed to learning centered on critical thinking, theoretical development, aesthetic judgment and evaluation, professional skills and standards, socio-cultural impact and relationships and the ethical and moral questions facing the field.

College of Communication Resources
The following resources are available to College of Communication students.

Student Organizations
Advertising Club
The purpose of the Marquette University Advertising Club is to promote better understanding of the functions of advertising, sales promotion and marketing communication; to stimulate and encourage advertising professionalism across the Marquette community through advertising education; to promote career possibilities in advertising; to apply the skills, creativity and energy of advertising in helping to solve social problems and to promote fellowship and the free exchange of ideas.

College Student Council
The Diederich College of Communication Student Council integrates social and academic student activities across the college. The council provides opportunities in a wide variety of leadership positions.

Honors Societies
Lambda Pi Eta
Lambda Pi Eta is an honorary society that also serves as a service organization to the college and local community. It is sponsored by the National Communication Association and honors outstanding full-time undergraduate students who are currently pursuing a major or minor housed in the Diederich College of Communication. For eligibility, students are required to achieve a 3.250 GPA in their major or minor, a 3.000 cumulative GPA and have completed 12 credit hours in the major or minor. Benefits include the possibility of attending/participating in a regional communication conference and/or in the annual National Communication Association conference, as well as the privilege of being a member of the society.

Kappa Tau Alpha
A Marquette chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha, the national honor society for journalism and mass communication, was established at Marquette in 1929. Undergraduate students majoring in advertising, digital media, journalism and public relations who are in the upper ten percent scholastically in their junior or senior year are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the upper ten percent scholastically in their group who have completed 12 hours in journalism or mass communication are also eligible for membership. Selections are made annually.

Marquette University Players
The Marquette University Players invites participation by students from across the campus, regardless of major. Student members participate in studio productions each academic year.

Professional Societies
Public Relations Student Society of America
The Marquette University Public Relations Student Society of America (PRSSA) chapter provides students with a better understanding of public relations in a corporate as well as nonprofit setting. The club receives the professional guidance offered by the Wisconsin Chapter of Public Relations Society of America (PRSA). As members of the PRSSA, students are able to actively participate within the professional ranks through field trips and attendance at PRSA functions. Membership is open to all students interested in public relations.

Society of Professional Journalists
The Marquette Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists (SPJ) is affiliated with the national organization of SPJ and assists members in establishing professional journalism contacts, participating in professional meetings and activities and maintaining awareness of crucial issues in professional journalism.

Student Media
Overview
Student media at Marquette operates out of the newly renovated, state-of-the-art facilities in Johnston Hall and provides opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to develop skills and gain experience creating multimedia content in different genres and using different storytelling tools and platforms. All student media operations are organized under the umbrella of the Marquette Wire (marquettewire.org) – a continuously updated website that also serves as a portal to the other divisions of student media, all of which are staffed and managed by students, with professional advice and some administrative assistance provided by a full-time faculty member. The College Media Association recently named the Marquette Wire one of the top five student media organizations in the country.

Marquette Journal
The Marquette Journal is a magazine published several times a year, both online and in print, that provides a platform for in-depth reporting, features, photography, fiction, poetry and graphic arts projects. The Journal seeks to promote creative expression and intellectual exploration while offering opportunities for students to gain experience in magazine editing, writing, design and production.

Marquette Radio (MUR)
Marquette Radio provides music, news, sports, talk and entertainment content that is streamed live via the Wire and is distributed to residence halls and other campus buildings via cable. Students gain experience in audio news production, announcing, program development and management. The staff also produces live radio play-by-play coverage of Marquette sporting events.

Marquette Tribune
The Marquette Tribune has been the official campus newspaper since 1916 and has won hundreds of state, regional and national awards for excellence. It is published weekly during the school year and provides news, opinion, features and entertainment of interest to students, faculty, staff and alumni of the university. It also publishes long-form investigative articles. Much of its content also appears on the Wire and is regularly distributed via social media.

Marquette University Television (MUTV)
MUTV is an entirely student-run station that provides news, sports and entertainment programming to the campus community via campus cable channel 4.1, and to general audiences via the Wire and YouTube. Students use state-of-the-art facilities, including cutting-edge virtual set technology, to produce weekly half-hour news, sports and entertainment television programs. Students also produce live play-by-play broadcasts of sporting events throughout the year.

Marquette Wire
The Wire serves as the principal source of news, sports, opinion, entertainment and investigative content for the Marquette community. The staff takes a digital-first approach to news reporting and often breaks stories on the Wire and through the use of social media to provide readers with the timeliest information possible. Student media staff members also take advantage of this online platform to present stories blending text, audio, video and graphics.

Fine Arts

FIAR 1000  Systems of Drawing: FYE100  (3 credits)
A one-term course in which students meet twice weekly and will be introduced to the visual language of drawing. Explore how the parts of the drawing relate to each other and to the composition as a whole while striving to develop skills using traditional black-and-white media. One-half of the course places primary emphasis on depicting the human form; the other half places emphasis on depicting objects in space. Fee paid to MIAD. MIAD # [FYE100].
Prerequisite: Cons. of dept.
Level of Study: Undergraduate
Last four terms offered: 2024 Spring Term, 2023 Fall Term, 2023 Spring Term, 2022 Fall Term
Schedule of Classes (https://bulletin.marquette.edu/class-search/?details&code=FIAR%201000)

FIAR 1100  Visual Language: FYE110  (3 credits)
Dynamics is a problem-solving course in which the student investigates the dynamic visual forces involved in composing on a two-dimensional plane. Explores the interrelationships of composition, process, perception, and intention. Color and light are also explored as a visual phenomenon, as a perceptual occurrence, as pigment with specific mixing properties, and as an element with powerful expressive and symbolic potential. Time, the fourth dimension, is investigated through problems dealing with simultaneity and sequentiality. The range of tools includes traditional materials/mediums and digital imaging. The course broadens the student's skill level in idea development, research strategies, and technique through the exploration of the visual language in both a historical and contemporary context. Approximately one-half of the semester is spent working in a digital environment. Fee paid to MIAD. MIAD # [FYE110].
Prerequisite: Cons. of dept.
Level of Study: Undergraduate
Last four terms offered: 2024 Spring Term, 2023 Fall Term, 2023 Spring Term, 2022 Fall Term
Schedule of Classes (https://bulletin.marquette.edu/class-search/?details&code=FIAR%201100)

FIAR 1210  Research, Process and Connection: FYE121  (3 credits)
A theme-based introductory course in which students conduct research and engage in a creative process that leads to a body of visual work. Each section of RPC is devoted to a particular idea, process, or approach. Students develop concepts, translate ideas, and apply methods as they make their work. Students explore their work and thinking within a historical, cultural, and personal context. This is reinforced through critical dialogue during stages of ideation, production, completion, and evaluation. At the end of the semester, students are required to present their final research in a digital presentation. These presentations should demonstrate visual evidence of work completed throughout the semester as well as the ability to analyze their progress and learning in a public format. MIAD # [FYE121].
Prerequisite: Cons. of Director of Marquette Fine Arts Program and FIAR 1000 and FIAR 1100.
Level of Study: Undergraduate
Last four terms offered: 2024 Spring Term, 2023 Fall Term, 2023 Spring Term, 2022 Fall Term
Schedule of Classes (https://bulletin.marquette.edu/class-search/?details&code=FIAR%201210)

FIAR 1501  Digital 2D: FYE150  (3 credits)
Introduction to image/content creation, manipulation, editing and management through Adobe Suite programs. Learn proper file management and workflow techniques, along with proper digital documentation and presentation of work. Students employ digital terminology across a wide range of disciplines and practices while also recognizing the cultural implications of digital creation, appropriation and distribution. MIAD # [FYE150].
Level of Study: Undergraduate
Last four terms offered: 2024 Spring Term, 2023 Fall Term, 2023 Spring Term, 2022 Fall Term
Schedule of Classes (https://bulletin.marquette.edu/class-search/?details&code=FIAR%201501)

FIAR 1510  Digital 4D: FYE151  (3 credits)
FYE studio courses immerse students in making in two, three, and four dimensions. Blends contemporary and traditional technologies in courses and work. Engaged in conversations and critique, while connecting experiences with skills and knowledge. See MIAD course catalog for specific course descriptions. Fee paid to MIAD. MIAD # [FYE151].
Prerequisite: FIAR 1000 and FIAR 1100.
Level of Study: Undergraduate
Last four terms offered: 2024 Spring Term, 2023 Fall Term, 2022 Fall Term, 2020 Fall Term
Schedule of Classes (https://bulletin.marquette.edu/class-search/?details&code=FIAR%201510)
FIAR 2007 2D Motion Fundamentals (IMAT207) (3 credits)
Explores 2D digital animation tool sets, while practicing how animation principles, timing and sound design can create believable, relatable, innovative and evocative short films and spots. Students are exposed to digital 2D animation processes that can be applied to motion graphics, character animation and special effects. Students continue applying ideation and visualization techniques learned in Visual Development & Storytelling to create engaging and clear sequential narratives.
Prerequisite: FIAR 2931 (FYE 199).
Level of Study: Undergraduate
Schedule of Classes (https://bulletin.marquette.edu/class-search/?details&code=FIAR%202007)

FIAR 2009 3D Modeling & Animation (IMAT209) (3 credits)
Practice techniques for modeling, surfacing, lighting, animation, rendering and 3D printing. Students are exposed to 3D tool sets with applications in animated films, interactive games, printed toys and more. Emphasis is placed on designing appealing objects and characters with strong silhouettes that hold visual interest from all angles. Students continue applying ideation and visualization techniques learned in Visual Development & Storytelling to create engaging and clear designs for use in 3D.

FIAR 2200 Approaches to Making: NSP220 (3 credits)
Sections of this course are intended to delve deeply into how a specific subject or mode has been addressed by artists over time. Each thematic subsection addresses manifestations of these subjects (see examples below) in multiple media, in subsequent eras and towards different purposes, studied in the context of students' continuing engagement with their individuated studio practices. All subsections are meant to be expansive in approach, and to consider all modes and media as represented in historical and current art as equally valid subjects of inquiry and examples for studio practice. Instructors lead research into the chosen subject areas and prompt students with studio projects designed for direct, hands-on exploration of thematic subjects. Students employ media familiar to them, and are encouraged to experiment with new media, to expand their artistic exploration and to build manual and oral/written vocabulary for operating within a multidisciplinary environment. Fee paid to MIAD. MIAD # [NSP220]
Prerequisite: Cons. of Director of Marquette Fine Arts Program and FIAR 1000 and FIAR 1100.

FIAR 2221 Approaches to Making: NSP221 (3 credits)
Topically engages appropriation as defined by a range of artistic practices and critical interventions. Establishes a range of current tendencies, then traces them back to their historical lineages. Recognizing the complicated history within appropriation and questions of authorship, students engage relationships between past and present. Through lecture, discussion and critique, these relationships become central in the art making process. Although this is a studio class, students encounter a number of critical texts. By way of reading and class dialogue, students become aware of the role theory and history can play in the art making process. This in turn allows students to develop a discerning way in which to approach their respective practices. Approaches to appropriation engages an expanded notion of appropriation by acknowledging a range of artistic approaches. Students are encouraged to conceive of their projects via media best suited to effectively communicate their artistic pursuits. Fee paid to MIAD. MIAD # [NSP221].

FIAR 3060  Open Studio: NSP306  (3 credits)
An introduction to self-directed learning designed to further one's growth as an artist. Individual artistic investigations centers on self-determined modes of making. Students may choose to concentrate on one discipline or they may work across several disciplines. That choice is guided by the instructor and by advanced student mentors in the class. Guidance is also offered as the student defines broad themes for artistic inquiry. Successful self-determined inquiry requires the students to reflect on the trajectory of their work and it further requires them to nurture a dialog with their work. Development of an ePortfolio provides further opportunities for reflection on the student's artistic evolution and it provides a convenient means for sharing work beyond the class. Because the focus is on studio practice, students are expected to be working during class. To the extent possible, class time is devoted to studio work and to critique, but expect to start every class with a discussion. Discussions provide an opportunity to explore common ideas, to seek advice, to share discoveries and to provide support for the class community. Fee paid to MIAD. [MIAD # NSP306]
