Philosophy Graduate Programs website (https://www.marquette.edu/philosophy/graduate.php)

Degrees Offered

Master of Arts (https://www.marquette.edu/grad/programs-philosophy.php), students are admitted under Plan B (non-thesis option) but Plan A (thesis option) is also offered; Doctor of Philosophy (https://www.marquette.edu/grad/programs-philosophy-phd.php)

Note: Students in the social and applied philosophy specialization are admitted under Plan B only.

Program Descriptions

The Department of Philosophy's master's program in the history of philosophy is based on ancient through contemporary philosophy as the necessary experience for a mind critically able to face contemporary philosophical issues. The master's program in social and applied philosophy provides rigorous philosophical training for individuals who are interested in working in a variety of non-academic contexts or for pursuing further graduate studies. The Philosophy Department's doctoral program in philosophy offers students the opportunity to explore a diverse range of topics in philosophy, including the history of philosophy from ancient to modern, Latin American philosophy, bioethics, social and political philosophy, philosophy of race, feminist philosophy, and philosophy of cognitive science.

Prerequisites for Admission

Applicants are expected to have 18 semester hours of undergraduate philosophy course work, six hours of which should be in survey courses (history of philosophy) for admission to the doctoral program or the master of arts program with a specialization in history of philosophy.

Application Deadline

Applicant files must be completed by Feb. 1 for admission consideration. Applications for admission received after this date will be considered as space permits.

Application Requirements

Applicants must submit, directly to the Graduate School:

1. A completed online (http://marquette.edu/grad/future_apply.shtml/) application form and fee.
2. Copies of all college/university transcripts except Marquette.
3. A statement of purpose outlining applicant’s achievements and intentions in philosophy.
4. Letters of recommendation from at least three professors or professionals familiar with applicant’s academic work and/or academic background.
5. A sample of philosophical writing.
6. (For international applicants only) a TOEFL score or other acceptable proof of English proficiency.

Upon admission, final official transcripts from all previously attended colleges/universities, with certified English translations if original language is not English, must be submitted to the Graduate School within the first five weeks of the term of admission or a hold preventing registration for future terms will be placed on the student’s record.

A master’s student may choose to be in either Plan A (thesis option) or Plan B (course option). Students are assumed to be in Plan B unless a formal request is made to and approved by the Graduate School.

In Plan A, the student must complete 24 credit hours of graduate-level course work and six credit hours of thesis work, pass a comprehensive examination and submit an approved thesis. Also, the student must have reading knowledge of French or German, or another foreign language approved by the department. At least 18 credits of the course work requirement must be in philosophy and must include the four core courses as outlined above. The comprehensive examination requires a critical knowledge of the philosophical classics and of contemporary philosophical literature.

In Plan B, the student must complete 30 credit hours of graduate-level course work and pass a comprehensive examination. No essay or foreign language is required for the Plan B master’s program. At least 18 credits of the course work requirement must be in graduate-level philosophy courses, including one course in ethics and the four core courses as outlined above. Up to six credit hours of upper division undergraduate courses approved for graduate credit may be counted toward this degree. Courses must be individually approved by the director of the graduate program. Plan B master’s degrees are considered terminal degrees by the Department of Philosophy.

Two graduate level cognate courses from outside philosophy | 6

Total Credit Hours: 30

The cognate courses are to be approved by the student's adviser and the coordinator of the master of arts social and applied philosophy specialization. No comprehensive exam or foreign language is required for the Plan B master's program. Plan B master's degrees are considered terminal degrees by the Philosophy Department.

Accelerated Bachelor's-Master's Degree Program

(PLAN B MASTER'S ONLY)

The accelerated degree program (ADP) in philosophy is designed to give Marquette University undergraduates a more efficient means to obtain a master's degree in philosophy. Interested Marquette students in their junior year (or equivalent) must meet the following criteria in order to apply for the ADP:

- Students must have a minimum cumulative undergraduate GPA of 3.000.
- Students must have taken at least 18 credits of course work in philosophy (6 courses).
Students accepted into the program may transfer up to 12 credits of approved 5000-level courses into their graduate program. Undergraduates participating in this program are granted early admission to the Graduate School and are allowed to take specific graduate-level courses during their senior year.

The ADP in philosophy is not restricted to philosophy majors. For additional information about requirements, interested students should contact the Department of Philosophy.

Those who have completed a master of arts in philosophy have gone on to excellent philosophy doctoral programs or law schools, and gained employment in the non-profit and private sectors. Graduate courses in our program offer students the possibility to pursue topics of interest to them in more depth than they are able to do in undergraduate classes. These courses provide smaller class sizes, more opportunities for participation, and an emphasis on the refinement of student research skills.

Philosophy Doctorate

A doctoral student in the philosophy program must complete a 63-credit program of study defined on an approved Doctoral Program Planning Form. Normally, the student must complete 51 credit hours of graduate-level course work beyond the baccalaureate degree. At least 30 of these must be completed after admission to the doctoral program. In addition, students must complete 12 credit hours of dissertation work. The student also must complete the foreign language requirement, display an understanding of the fundamentals of predicate logic demonstrated either by course work or by a department exam, a qualifying paper with an oral defense, and submit and successfully defend a dissertation.

Elective Courses

PHIL 6970 Seminar on Teaching Philosophy 30
PHIL 8999 Doctoral Dissertation 3

Total Credit Hours: 63

- An approved PHIL 5931 Topics in Philosophy, PHIL 5953 Undergraduate Seminar, or PHIL 6959 Seminar in Philosophy may satisfy any requirement listed above, depending on topic.
- Content requirement: At least one course must be in the Catholic intellectual tradition, for example, PHIL 6620 Augustine, PHIL 6640 St. Thomas Aquinas or a course approved by the director of graduate studies. A course may be double-counted to satisfy both an area and content requirement. A course may satisfy at most two requirements.
- Content requirement: At least one course must be on a topic that addresses questions of social justice. A course may be double-counted to satisfy both an area and content requirement. A course may satisfy at most two requirements.
- With written approval from the department chair, up to 6 credit hours of required course work may be taken in other fields. Once the student commences study in the philosophy Ph.D. program, 3 credits may be taken at another university in our consortium.
- Students in the Ph.D. program need to demonstrate a reading knowledge of a language other than English. The typical choices are French, German, Latin, Greek or Arabic; however, any other language necessary to the student’s study and approved by the director of graduate studies can be chosen. The language requirement must be satisfied before the student becomes a doctoral candidate (ABD standing) and may be completed by passing an appropriate language course or a departmental exam.
- Students must demonstrate competence in symbolic logic, either through course work, acceptable undergraduate courses or a departmental exam.
- Students must submit one qualifying paper. This paper is assessed by a committee of three faculty. Generally, these are a minimum of 5,000 words.
