Student Organizations

The College of Business Administration supports student organizations intended to cultivate academic, professional, career and social interests of business students and related majors. The president of each business student organization serves as an advisory council to the dean, meeting several times each term. To inquire about business student organizations activities and membership, ask your adviser or the dean’s office.

Honor Societies

Beta Gamma Sigma

Beta Gamma Sigma, founded in 1929, is the international honor society for students enrolled in business schools accredited by the AACSB—International (Association for the Advancement of Collegiate Schools of Business).

The Marquette chapter’s purpose is “to encourage and reward scholarship and accomplishment among students of business and administration, to promote the advancement of education in the art and science of business, and to foster integrity in the conduct of business operations.” Induction to Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest honor conferred by the College of Business Administration.

Omicron Delta Epsilon

Omicron Delta Epsilon is the international honor society in economics serving to recognize scholastic attainment and honoring outstanding achievement in economics. The society is one of the world’s largest academic honor societies. The Marquette chapter was founded in 1981.
